June 15, 2023

In this RIMS-hosted webinar, join Beazley, CrisisRisk, and a risk manager from the City of Jacksonville for a panel discussion on the changing risk landscape around gun violence.

Gun violence is on the rise across the U.S., and while no one wants to imagine a deadly weapons event happening to them, the reality is that the past two years have been the deadliest years for gun violence on record with more than 1,300 mass shootings1 in 2020–2021.

After years of growing tensions exacerbated by the pandemic, organizations must prepare themselves to deal with the unpredictability of human nature as continued civil unrest and polarized political views continue across the U.S. In this RIMS-hosted webinar, join Beazley, CrisisRisk, and a risk manager from the City of Jacksonville for a panel discussion on the changing risk landscape around gun violence.
