Powering the digital age: From data centre demand to energy strain

Our Risk & Resilience report “ Spotlight on Energy Transformation 2026” looks at the opportunities, risks and new approaches needed for the new energy era.

To complement this, we recommend this 40-minute podcast on data centres from The Voice of Insurance: “Insuring the Trillion-Dollar Data Boom”.

Hear from our experts who discuss how this rapid growth is reshaping multiline exposures across the likes of property, renewables, and environmental liability.

Plus, hear directly from a data centre owner/investor on what matters most in his broker and insurance partners as challenges continue to unfold.

The podcast features:

- Lindsay Shipper – Head of North American Commercial Property
- Nicholas Pearson – Regional Manager, UK & RoW Environmental Liability
- Ben Sheppard – Underwriter, Renewable Energy
- Atul Roy – MD, Head of Telecoms, Cordiant Capital
