Geopolitical risk spikes

Economic turmoil, war in Ukraine and the continuing impact of a global pandemic ... Business leaders haven't faced such a unique set of challenges in a generation.

Building on a programme of research with business leaders from companies of all sizes from 10 different industry sectors in the US and UK, we throw a spotlight on business risk and resilience – past, present and future.

Geopolitical risks include the threat of disruption, failure to keep pace with changing technology, cyber risk and intellectual property risk.
